

About Us

Mission

Adonis Productions strives to provide the highest quality Second Life consulting and design services.

History

Formed by a team of business veterans with extensive design and consulting experience, Adonis Productions is a world-class organization dedicated to reducing the barrier for entry into the Second Life community.

Management Team

The Adonis Productions management team consists of experienced individuals in technical consulting, graphical design, and business execution.

Demi Pixel

Director of Business Development

Prior to joining Adonis Productions, Demi worked in the Developer Marketing Group at Palmsource. Demi graduated from Harvard University with highest honors and earned her MBA from the Santa Clara University Leavey School of Business with a concentration in Marketing Management.

Syn Division

Director of Technical Services

Syn has 15 years of enterprise networking and systems analysis experience and is responsible for the over-all technical vision of the company. Syn is a long time BSD advocate and plays Second Life from a FreeBSD workstation

Ann Launay

Controller

Prior to joining Adonis, Ann has held various high-level accounting positions in the government and private sectors. A graduate of the University of Wyoming with both a Bachelors and Masters of Science in Accounting, Ann is a hardworking and efficient numbers-cruncher. Along with a strong work ethic and the ability to multi-task, she has an outstanding attention to detail, as well as strong problem solving skills.
